

Text A: Non fiction

Volcano

Volcano is a mountain. It has an opening that leads to a pool of molten rock from below the surface of the earth. Volcanoes can erupt if enough pressure builds up. Lava and hot ash will flow out from the volcano causing a lot of damage to whatever comes in contact.

There are many active volcanoes on land, some are under the ocean. Volcanoes have been on earth thousands of years ago.

The largest volcano is Mauna Loa in Hawaii. When measured from its base below sea level to the top of it, it is bigger than Mount Everest, the largest mountain in the world.

VOLCANOES BE IN SICILY

By Emily Dickneson

Volcanoes be in Sicily,
And south America,
I know from my Geography,
Volcanoes are never here.

A lava step at any anytime,
Am I inclined to climb,
A crater I may contemplate
