

Dictation

The future

Exercise 1.1: Write down the following sentences containing will and going to forms. If you use contractions, use them across the board. You may stop or play the recording as many times as you need. Then decide why each verbal form is used in each sentence.

Dictation	Use
1.
2.
3.

Exercise 1.2: Write down the following sentences containing will and going to forms. If you use contractions, use them across the board. You may stop or play the recording as many times as you need. Then decide why each verbal form is used in each sentence.

Dictation	Use
1.
2.
3.

Exercise 2: Write down the following sentences containing going to and the present continuous forms to talk about the future. If you use contractions, use them across the board. You may stop or play the recording as many times as you need. Then decide why each verbal form is used in each sentence.

Dictation	Use
1.
2.
3.
4.
5.
6.
7.

Exercise 3: Write down the following sentences containing different verbal forms to talk about the future (present simple, present continuous, will and going to). If you use contractions, use them across the board. You may stop or play the recording as many times as you need. Then decide why each verbal form is used in each sentence.

Dictation	Use
1.
2.
3.
4.	