THE BIG BANG THEORY: A FAMILY OF FRIENDS

Have you ever listened about the Big Bang Theory? No, I'm not talking about the theory that astronomers use to explain the way the universe began. I'm talking about the American sitcom created by Chuck Lorre and Bill Prady. Whether you watched it or not, you should read this article focused on the characters of this successful TV show.

The show originally centered on five characters living in Pasadena, California: Leonard Hofstadter and Sheldon Cooper, both physicists who share an apartment; their neighbor Penny, a waitress and aspiring actress; their friends and co-workers: the aerospace engineer Howard Wolowitz and astrophysicist Raj Koothrappali. Over time, new characters were included.

Friendship, love and science

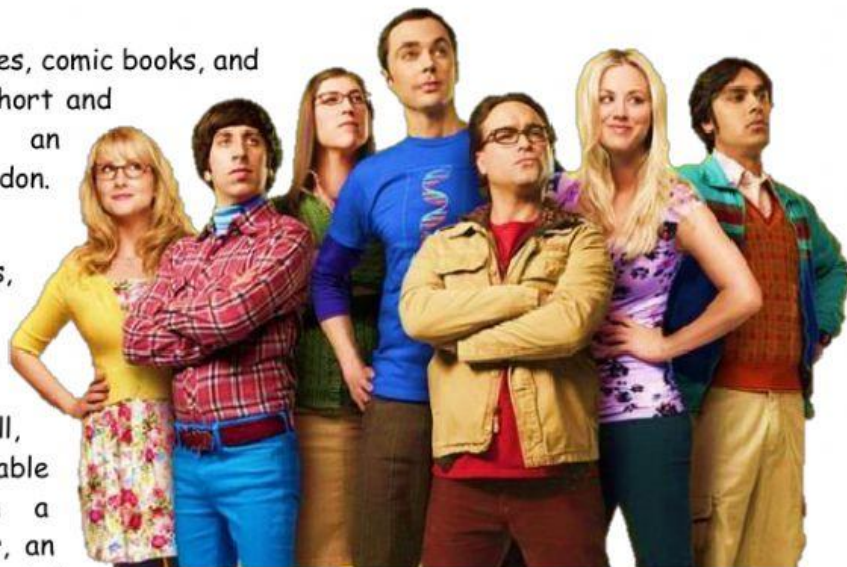

Leonard is a nerd who loves video games, comic books, and to play Dungeons & Dragons. He is short and wears glasses. Leonard shares an apartment in Pasadena with Sheldon. Leonard is in love with Penny.

Born and raised in Galveston, Texas, Sheldon was a child prodigy with an eidetic memory who began university studies at the age of eleven. He is a theoretical physicist. Sheldon is tall, thin and has blue eyes. He's not a sociable person, despite that, he began a relationship with Amy Farrah Fowler, an average height and weight woman with dark brown hair who wears glasses.

Penny, an attractive and outgoing girl who works at the restaurant The Cheesecake Factory. She has a tall, athletic body and beautiful green eyes. Penny becomes friends with Bernadette and Amy.

Howard Wolowitz, an aerospace engineer. Howard is Jewish and lives with his mother. He says he is a womanizer, but in fact, he is not successful among women. He is short, thin and has a big nose. Later starts dating Bernadette, a blonde and tiny girl who wears red glasses and has straight, long, blonde hair.

The fifth member of the gang is Rajesh Koothrappali, a particle astrophysicist from New Delhi, India. Raj is too shy to talk to women unless he drinks alcohol. He has dark skin and eyes.
