Everglades Food Web

All food chains begin with the _____.

It provides energy for plants like bladderworts and _____ to grow.

Plants in swamps feed many animals.

Insects like _____ drink nectar from orchids.

The other swamp plant, _____, feeds mud turtles.

Fish like _____ eat bladderworts and mosquitoes.

The unlucky grass carp is food for birds like _____.

The large and dangerous _____ also preys on fish, raccoons, and the great blue heron.

The small _____ hops along eating insects like mosquitoes.

Small furry _____ will eat the leopard frog.

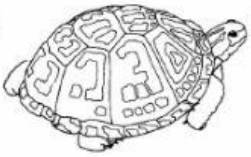

The apex predator, the alligator, can bite through the shell of the _____.

bladderworts

leopard frog

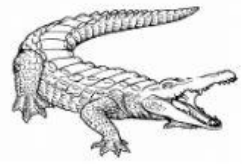

mud turtle

great blue heron

raccoon

alligator

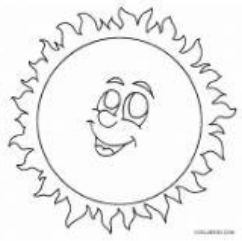

mosquito

orchids

grass carp

sun