

PRESENT PERFECT + JUST

Just — Se utiliza cuando la acción acaba “justo” de terminar. NO se usa nunca en frases negativas.

Se escribe: have + JUST + past participle

la niña acaba justo de terminar de hacer el pastel*

What have they JUST done?

¿ Qué acaban estas personas de terminar de hacer?

Elige la opción correcta:

The boy has just opened the door

The boy has just closed the door

The boy has just taken off the jacket

The boy has just put on the jacket

He has just hurt his knee

He has just broken his knee

He has just broken his leg

He has just hurt his leg

He has just painted the flower pot

He has just broken the flower pot

The boy has just stopped next to the road

The boy has just crossed the road

The boy has just eaten a big piece of cake

The boy has just drunk a bottle of water

The girl has just stopped the ball

The girl has just thrown the ball

The girl has just started the race

The girl has just crossed the finish line

The plane has just taken off * (despegar)

The plane has just landed * (aterrizar)

