HOW TO PACK FOR YOUR NEXT TRIP

Going on a vacation is fun, but packing is usually not. “What should I bring?” travelers often ask. Many people are unsure and pack too much. Then they have to carry a heavy suitcase or pay extra money for it at the airport. How can you pack your things in one easy-to-carry bag? Here are some helpful tips from travel writers Annie Fitzsimmons and Jared Gottlieb.

1. When you travel, you only need a few things, your passport, credit cards, cell phone, and certain clothes (a suit for work, a sweater for a cold weather and shorts for hot weather). What are these things? Make a list. Then pack only important items.
2. Do you plan to read on the trip? Leave books at home. They’re heavy. If you want to read, bring your tablet or buy magazines or books at the airport. When you’re done, you can leave them on the plane or at the hotel.
3. Bring mostly, white, black, gray, tan and blue clothes and shoes. These colors are easy to mix and match. By doing this, you can pack fewer items.
4. Are you going someplace chilling? If yes, wear some of your warm clothes—like sweaters, jackets, or boots—on the plane. These things take up a lot of room in your suitcase and make it heavy.
5. Use the bags to organize the items in your suitcase. Put things like your toothbrush, soap and shampoo in one bag, underwear and socks in another, shirts in another and so on. By doing this, you use less space in your suitcase. It also makes it easier to unpack!
