

WORKSHEET - 3

1. Answer in One Word -

i) A computer that performs operations using continuously varying signals such as voltage, current and frequency -

Answer - _____

ii) A computer that performs calculations and logical operations using electrical signal such as voltage that is represented in two digits 0 and 1

Answer - _____

iii) A computer that has features of both analog and digital computers

Answer - _____

iv) The computers are small enough to fit on top of or alongside a desk yet are too big to carry around

Answer - _____

v) The computers that are portable, lightweight and fit into most of the briefcases

Answer - _____

vi) These are very huge computers. Because the different units of computer were installed in a frame, it started to be called as

Answer - _____

2. Choose the Correct Answer

- a) _____ computers are small size and low cost digital computers.
- b) _____ are also known as Notebook Computers because of their slim design.
- c) In designing of Robots _____ computers are used.
- d) Most of the computers we use are generally _____ computers.