

LEARNING UNIT 4: REAL LIFE HEROES

PAST PERFECT ACTIVITY

I. Read the text and identify the places where you can use past perfect tense.

Yesterday, I had some problems along the way. It started when I was getting ready to meet Ann. I brushed my teeth. Then, I used some mouthwash to make sure my breath would be extra fresh. At first, I was fine, though it was a strong taste. But the taste got more intense as I rinsed my teeth. I looked at the bottle I used. The mouthwash and aftershave bottles were right next to each other!

I went to get dressed and realized I had left my best shirt in the washer! I went to get it from the washer. I was relieved, until I took it out. The shirt had shrunk! I was running short on time, so I threw on a different shirt and ran out the door.

I sat at a table to wait for Ann to arrive. I realized something: I put my shirt on inside out! I went to the bathroom to fix it. A waiter gave my table to someone else. Then, I came back. I told a server what had happened, but he said I would have to wait for another table. After about ten minutes, I told them that I had waited long enough. They finally gave me a new table, apologizing that they had made a mistake.

I began to get frustrated... I was sitting at the table for about 15 minutes. Then, Ann called me. She sounded upset. She said that she waited for me for over twenty minutes. She had left the restaurant and was in her car, about to go home. I asked her where she had sat at Taqueria Loca and she sounded surprised. She had been at Taqueria San Jose! Since I already had a table, I told her to come to Taqueria Loca. Ten minutes passed. Then, Ann finally showed up. When I saw her, I felt the wait had been worth it. We stayed at the restaurant for a long time, eating and talking.
