

Hobby Song – SNL | Season 44 Episode 8

Melissa Villaseñor and Emma Stone

Melissa Villaseñor: Hey, Emma. Welcome back.

Emma Stone: Hey, Melissa. It's good to see you. How have you been?

Melissa Villaseñor: Frickin' great. I'm so happy.

Emma Stone: That's great. I mean last time I was here, it was your first season, right?

Melissa Villaseñor: Yep. And I've grown so much since then. Especially, in the self-love/confidence department.

Emma Stone: Hmm, well, that's cool. I'll see ya.

Melissa Villaseñor: You know? I just had to look at myself and say, hey, you're cool, Meliss. Let yourself rejoice in who you are. And you know what? I found a lot of peace through my hobbies.

Emma Stone: That's neat.

Melissa Villaseñor: Hey, you want to hear about them?

Emma Stone: I mean I have to learn this –

Melissa Villaseñor: Great. I'm going to rap.

Emma Stone: Oh, shoot. They need me on set. So annoying.

Melissa Villaseñor: Yeah, no, [Cut to Melissa] that sounds annoying. Almost as annoying as when someone interrupts you while you're rapping about your hobbies.

Emma Stone: I don't think I've interrupted.

Melissa Villaseñor: Twice. You've interrupted twice. Emma Stone? More like, I'm a stone because stones don't have feelings. And that's you.

Emma Stone: I am not a stone. The truth is I do have a hobby. I was just embarrassed.

Melissa Villaseñor: Never be embarrassed of your hobby. It's a part of you.

Emma Stone: I'm going to rap now.
