

The Most Recognizable Landmarks in the World

Match the corresponding name of each landmark.

a. Mount Fuji, Honshu Island, Japan.

b. Uluru, Northern Territory, Australia.

c. Christ The Redeemer, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

d. The Colosseum, Rome, Italy.

Read the text. Write the name of each landmark and order the information below.

(1)

The largest Art Deco sculpture in the world has become an icon of Rio. Not only it is impressive due to its size, but also the nature, surrounding Christ The Redeemer. The Sugarloaf Mountain that you can reach by a cable car, is near and amazing panorama opens from the top of the hill.

Why to go there?

When to go there?

How to get there?

Reach the summit by tram, by car or by foot.

Anytime, although December to March might be rainy. It is best to check the weather.

To visit the statue and admire the amazing cityscape.

(2)

The highest mountain in country is an active volcano. It has cultural significance: for ages it has inspired artists and people still make pilgrimages to the mountain. It is a perfect symbol of Japan - a country, whose appreciation of nature blends incredibly well with culture and religion.

Why to go there?

When to go there?

How to get there?

The best time to climb the mountains is from July to August.

Get there by train. It is 100 km from Tokyo.

A beautiful retreat from the city's hustle and bustle.

(3)

Built in AD 70 the arena could hold 50 000 spectators! Today the Colosseum stands as the symbol of glorious Roman Empire and the bloody gladiators fights. It is also a real treat for those interested in history and archeology.

Why to go there?

When to go there?

How to get there?

Anytime - check for the opening hours before you go.

Easily accessible - It is found in the Piazza del Colosseo.

One of the most significant monuments from the Roman Empire.

(4)

The sandstone rock is a sacred site for the Native Australians, who believe that spirits of the dead live here. Climbing this place is a popular activity. However, the proposition to ban climbing has been considered lately. Therefore, it might be a good idea to hurry up and visit it now.

Why to go there?

When to go there?

How to get there?

Anytime. Although it can be very hot during Australian Summer.

A must see once in Australia. Also, climb it while it's still available.

By plane from Perth, Melbourne, Sydney or Brisbane.

Classify the landmarks on previous exercise into Natural or Man made landmarks. Add two more examples to each category.

NATURAL LANDMARKS	MAN MADE LANDMARKS