

Panama: A Cosmopolitan Country

Since the construction of the canal, Panama is considered as center of the world and heart of the universe, because people from different parts come and stay here, making Panama a cosmopolitan country.

Some of these groups of foreigners are organized in colonies, most of them are located in Panama and Colon cities. These groups help to increase and improve our economy; developing different kinds of business activities such as: shopping stores, hotels, restaurants, jewelry stores, etc.

The Indian, Italian, Chinese, and Jewish, are some of the colonies established in Panama; but during the last years, the number of people from, Colombia, Nicaragua, Venezuela and other countries that move to Panama to settle down here keeps increasing. The diversity of cultures combined with our own culture and traditions make Panama a wonderful place to visit.
