

1. Its advent caused my mother to throw a shoe through a window of the house next door.
a) arrival                      b) departure                      c) keeping                      d) hiding
2. I could see the faint shine of plates on the plate-rail.
a) bright                      b) gloomy                      c) quick                      d) slow
3. The steps had ceased.
a) stopped      b) slipped                      c) started      d) broken
4. I supposed at first that it was my father or my brother Roy, who had gone to Indianapolis but were expected home at any time.
a) unexpected                      b) accepted                      c) ready                      d) unexpected
5. But finally he quieted down and called the police for us over an extension phone by his bed.
a) shouted                      b) calmed                      c) left                      d) kept
6. Finally the cops put their shoulders to our big heavy front door with its thick bevelled glass and broke it in:
a) thick                      b) light                      c) huge                      d) attractive
7. Finally the cops put their shoulders to our big heavy front door with its thick bevelled glass and broke it in:
a) dirty                      b) clean                      c) thin                      d) slopped