On Friday, 12 June, I woke up early at six o'clock; it was my birthday. Then I went down to the dining-room, where Moortje, my cat, welcomed me. At seven I went in to Mummy and Daddy, and then to the sitting-room for my presents. The nicest present was you — my diary! There was a bunch of roses on the table, and lots more flowers and presents arrived for me during the day. Daddy and Mummy gave me a blue blouse, a game and a bottle of fruit juice which tastes quite like wine! At school, I shared out some cakes with my friends, and I was allowed to choose the game that we played in the sports lesson. Afterwards, all my friends danced round me in a circle and sang 'Happy Birthday'.

Activity 2: What presents did she receive? Tick them.

I don't feel at home here yet. I don't hate it though. It is like a holiday in a strange little hotel. My bedroom was very empty when I arrived, but stuck up pictures of my favourite film actors and actresses.

It's a lot better now. Margot and Mother are a bit better now too. Yesterday Mother _____ some soup for the first time, but she _____ downstairs to talk and forgot all about it! Last night, the four of us went down to the private office and _____ to the news on the radio. I was so frightened that I asked Father to take me back upstairs! I _____ someone might hear it. We have to be very quiet at night.
