The Lost Homework

Travis runs through the house picking up papers and looking under cushions. "What are you looking for?" asks his brother, Grayson. "I've lost my homework that's due tomorrow!" says Travis. "Where were you when you last saw it?" asks Grayson.

Travis scratches his chin and says, "I think I was in the kitchen getting a glass of ice water." The boys walk into the kitchen. Grayson opens the freezer and there is the homework on the shelf. A wave of relief rushes over Travis. "Thanks, Grayson, if it wasn't for you, my homework would be frozen," chuckles Travis.
