Read. Then choose.

The Hmong

The Hmong are hill people. They live in the mountains of Southeast Asia. They have their own way of life and their own language. You won't find much modern technology in a traditional Hmong village because people there live the way their ancestors did 2,000 years ago.

The Koryak

The Koryak live in the northern part of Russia's Pacific coast. Their land is Arctic tundra, and it's very cold. For food, they herd reindeer and catch fish. They also make some of their clothes. They wear warm hats made of reindeer skins to protect them from the freezing temperatures.

The Maasai

The Maasai of Kenya are a nomadic tribe. This means they move from place to place and make new homes each time. Their villages don't have running water or electricity, so they can't use modern technology in their homes.
