

Singular Possessive Nouns

A possessive noun is noun that possesses/owns/has something.

The dog's bed = bed of the dog.

To show possession for a singular noun (for example, one dog), an apostrophe is added before the s.

The dog's bed

Rewrite each sentence using a singular possessive noun.

Example: The tyre of my car is flat. → My car's tyre is flat.

1. I can see the house of my friend.

2. The tail of my dog is knocks things over.

3. The lunchbox of Grace is blue.

4. The net of the fisherman is caught on the rocks.

5. The skin of a frog can be slimy.

6. The teacher of Mark is Mr Sims.

7. The shirt of the boy was ripped playing football.

8. The light of the fridge is broken.
