

♪ The Killers - My Own Soul's Warning

Play Now

Complete with a verb in the past simple:

I _____ going against my own soul's warning
But in the end, something just _____ right
Oh I tried diving even though the sky _____ storming
I just _____ to get back to where you are

If you _____ see through the banner of the sun
Into eternity's eyes
Like a vision reaching down to you
Would you turn away?
What if it _____ you by your name?
What kind of words would cut
Through the clutter of the whirlwind of these days?

I _____ going against my own soul's warning
And in the end, something just _____ right
Oh I tried diving, even though the sky _____ storming
Thunderheads were forming

But man I _____ I could fly
And when I hit the ground
It _____ a messed up sound
And it kept on rattling through my days
And cutting up my nights
Like a goddamned knife
And it _____ me thinking, no matter how far
That I just wanted to get back to where you are

I _____ going against my own soul's warning
But in the end, something just _____ right
Oh I tried running from the memory and the mourning
But the penalty _____ on pouring

And now I think I know why
'Cause when I hit the ground
It _____ a messed up sound
And it kept on rattling through my days
And cutting up my nights
Like a goddamned knife
And it _____ me thinking, no matter how far
I just wanted to get back to where you are

GLOSSARY

Use the words in green to match the following definitions

: moving in one side and out of the other side of (an opening, channel, or location).

: the expression of deep sorrow for someone who has died, typically involving following certain conventions such as wearing black clothes.

: making a series of short, sharp knocking sounds.

: when liquid flows quickly and in large amounts.

: regardless of the fact that; used to say that a possible situation would not prevent something from being true.

: the solid surface of the Earth; an area of land.

: a statement or event that indicates a possible or impending danger or another unpleasant situation.

: being able to touch or grasp something; arriving somewhere;

: in opposition to something or someone.

: a lot of things in an untidy state, especially things that are not useful or necessary.

: to move your face so you are not looking at something; to refuse, reject or dismiss.

: a tall column of air which spins round and round very fast and moves across the land or sea.