

1. Write sentences about what people used to do according to the images.

- a) _____
- b) _____
- c) _____
- d) _____

2. Read the article and answer the questions.

100 years ago, in the United States most people used to live in the country. People used to rent homes and lived in households with five or more other people. Not many people used to have a bathtub and women used to wash their hair once a month using egg yolks for shampoo. Most women used to give birth at home. The average American worker used to earn about 300 dollars per year. Only one out of 500 Americans used to drive a car. Most Americans used to travel by horse carriages. Many doctors used to practice medicine without a college degree. Most households used to have at least one full-time servant.

- a. How many people used to live in households 100 years ago?
- b. Where did Americans used to live?
- c. How often did women used to wash their hair?
- d. Where did women used to give birth?
- e. How much did the average American worker used to earn?
- f. How did most Americans used to travel?