

HALLOWEEN

Halloween is celebrated in the USA (and in the whole world) on October 31st. It originally comes from Ireland.

It's an Irish celebration which means "end of summer".

In the USA, they buy big pumpkins called Jack-O-Lantern. They usually put a candle in it to make it very scary!

They also have typical food such as candy apples, lollipops and pumpkin pies. Yummy!

Kids don't have common clothes, no! They wear hats, masks and costumes and they go from haunted houses to haunted houses. They say "Trick or treat" which is really to get candies! Some are dressed like witches with a broom and some like ghosts.

It's a very popular celebration.
