Answer the questions 11-13 according to the text.

I'm Jason. I'm twelve years old and I'm in grade six. I get up very early in the morning and I have a quick breakfast, and then I get dressed. I leave for school at half past seven and I arrive at school at about eight o'clock. I have six classes a day. I don't like the canteen food, so I don't have lunch at school. My classes finish at half past one and I get back home at quarter to two. After school, I have a toasted sandwich. My mother makes a sandwich for me every morning and leaves it in the fridge and I eat it with some fruit and juice. She works at a big hospital so she's very busy. After I eat my sandwich, I go to a Chinese course at twenty past two. We don't have Chinese classes at school. We only learn French. The class finishes at half past three and I get back home. After I get back home, I take my brother to his swimming class at four o'clock. He's in first grade and he really likes swimming. While he is in swimming class, I go to the library and read a book. His class finishes at quarter past five. Then, we get back home, and we help Mum to prepare dinner. Dad gets back home at about seven and we have dinner at quarter past seven. After dinner, my brother and I do homework. My mother cleans the kitchen and my father helps her. Sometimes, we watch a movie together. I usually go to bed at about ten pm.
