Mother Teresa was born in 1910 in Skopje, the capital of the Republic of Macedonia. Little is known about her early life, but at a young age, she felt she wanted to be a nun and serve through helping the poor. At the age of 18, she was given permission to join a group of nuns in Ireland. After a few months of training, she was then given permission to travel to India.

On her arrival in India, she began by working as a teacher; however, the poverty of Calcutta made a deep impression on her, and this led to her starting a new order called “The Missionaries of Charity”. The primary objective of this mission was to look after people, who nobody else was prepared to look after. Mother Teresa felt that serving others was a fundamental principle of the teachings of Jesus Christ.

In 1952, she opened her first home for the dying, which allowed people to die with dignity. Mother Teresa often spent time with those who were dying.

In 1979, she was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize “for work in the struggle to overcome poverty and , which also constitutes a threat to peace.”

When she was asked how to promote world peace, she said”Go home and love your family”.
