Every winter, we have a Christmas Fair. We make snacks at home, like Christmas biscuits and cakes and then, we bring them to school to sell. I always buy a biscuit! They're always tastier than ones in the shops. We also make things like bracelets and key rings and sell them, too. I often buy presents for my family at the Christmas Fair. They're much cheaper than presents from shops!

Children bring old computer games, books and soft toys that they don't want and we sell them in the hall. I sometimes buy a little, old car for my collection. I've got almost 100 now! But my brother's got a bigger collection!

We make striped and spotted flags and we put them all over the Christmas tree. The school looks cooler at Christmas time with the tree and the flags up. We always sing songs and dance around the tree. School isn't as much fun the rest of the year!

- 1 Biscuits from the school are tastier than biscuits from the shops. ☐
- 2 Presents at the Christmas Fair are more expensive than presents from shops. ☐
