A Season of Discontent

Story Elements

Q – Choose the correct answer by dragging the boxes into their right place:

Setting              main              sub-conflicts              main conflict external conflict              external conflict              play
 Main solution              end              Sub- solution

1) The _____ characters in the play are the seasons Spring, Summer, Fall, winter, and there is also the Child.

2) _____ the seasons argue about their importance, and which season should control the weather.

- 3) The _____ of this play is four actors standing at the center of the stage wearing masks, and a child sitting in a lawn chair.

- 4) A _____ is a work of drama, usually having dialogue between characters (actors), on a stage, or a theater, rather than just reading.
- 5) We have two _____ in the play.
- 6) _____ Fall feels that it is not an important season because it can not be categorized, and it feels that it does not belong to any of the other seasons.
- 7) _____ The child tells the season that they should cooperate, and gives each season three months in the year. Each season gets three months in the following order: Spring → Summer → Fall → Winter.
- 8) _____ Fall is upset with the other seasons, in which it is completely ignored, and the other season say that Fall is not an important season and it is an unexceptional season, so Fall's opinion does not matter in their argument.

- 9) The _____: Each season is happy and content with the solution. They stopped arguing, and the child feels relaxed.

- 10) _____ Fall faces the seasons and tells them that the way it is treated is hurtful, and that it is the strongest season of them all.

Good Luck!
