_____ my sister and I made an agreement that the loser of the game would make the sandwiches. I was so happy that I lost because it was my time to make the peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. I love making sandwiches. _____, I took out the bread slices and dressings. I stopped for a moment to turn on my favorite song to dance to while I made lunch. _____, I began to spread the dressings on the bread slices. My sister peaked into the kitchen and saw me dancing. "Come join me", I said to her. She joined and began dancing too as we completed the task. We were _____, done and sat at the table to eat. _____, my favorite song was played on the radio and we both looked at each other and smiled. We now have a wonderful memory of making sandwiches together.
