- A. After more than twenty years, there's no sign of failure in this all-singing, all-dancing show which still regularly brings breathless audiences to their feet at the end. There is a mystical sentimentality in the show's storyline. The singing and choreography are excellent. It is almost impossible to resist a feeling of excitement. The show is also known for one of Lloyd Webber's most famous tunes.
- B. Born in Dublin Freddie Bartholomew was left by his parents at an early age and was brought up by his aunt. He acted in a few small parts in films but his career really took off when he was ten. Freddie was not spoilt by his success and when his voice broke, he returned to normal life.
- C. Recent research has shown that appreciation of music is not a matter of individual taste. Certain types of music have a particular effect on us and it does not matter whether we like them or not. Some music helps us feel relaxed and peaceful, whereas other types may be stimulating to the brain, encouraging curiosity. Some music promotes loving feelings; other sounds evoke hate, jealousy and violence.
- D. The stage filled with loud music and light. Robbie came on in a black, shiny T-shirt, a black leather jacket and leather trousers. When a new version of Back for Good was sung, his fans became more and more excited. Robbie took off his jacket and the fans went mad. More and more girls left their seats trying to get closer to Robbie. The screaming got louder and louder and it was difficult to hear the words of the songs.
- E. Like any other skill or art it takes time to develop your talent, so start by studying music at school and also at home. Learn to play a musical instrument. The next stage is to join a band or form a group. Once you've got a band going, you should start trying to write your own music. Your next step is to play for the public. Spend a few hours thinking about the band's image. You need a fresh image, so that you appear different from other bands.
- F. For a few months in 1986, Dolly Cage was the biggest thing in pop music. Her first record, Dancing Rainbow, was a huge success. It reached number three in the charts. She appeared on TV and every magazine wanted to interview her. However, her second record wasn't successful. Then her manager lost most of her money in a casino. After that everything changed, she was forgotten even by her fans and now nobody remembers her name.

STREET ART AROUND THE WORLD

Modern graffiti began in big cities in the United States in the 1970s. In New York, young people wrote their names, or "tags", in pen on walls around the city. One of the first "taggers" was a teenager called Demetrius. His tag was TAKI 183. He wrote his tag on the walls and in the subway stations in New York. Other teenagers saw Demetrius's tag and started writing their tags too. Soon, there were tags on walls, buses and trains all over New York.

Then, some teenagers started writing their tags with aerosol paint. Their tags were bigger and more colourful. Aerosol paint graffiti became very popular in the 1970s and 1980s. It appeared on trains, buses and walls all around the world. In the 1990s and 2000s, a lot of graffiti artists started painting pictures. Some artists' pictures were about politics. Other artists wanted to make cities beautiful and painted big, colourful pictures on city walls.

In some countries, writing or painting on walls is a crime. Sometimes, graffiti artists have problems with the police in these countries. In other countries, artists can draw and paint in certain places. For example, in Taiwan, there are "graffiti zones" where artists can paint on walls. In Sao Paulo in Brazil, street artists can paint pictures on walls and houses. Their pictures are colourful and beautiful. Some tourists visit Sao Paulo just to see the street art!

In Bristol in the UK, for example, there is a street art festival in August every year. Artists paint all the buildings in a street. Lots of people travel from across the UK to watch the artists and take photos of the pictures. You can see exhibitions of street art in some galleries too. Today there have been exhibitions of street art in galleries in Paris, London and Los Angeles.

Who are the artists? Some street artists have become famous. Here are three stars of the street art world: Os Gemeos are twin brothers from Sao Paulo. They paint big, colourful pictures of people on buildings. In 2007, they painted a castle in Scotland! The other is Blek le Rat from Paris. He is famous for painting pictures of homeless people in big cities. One more artist is Faith47 who is from Cape Town in South Africa. She paints big, colourful pictures of people and animals. She likes painting in different places and you can find her work on pavements, postboxes, buses and, of course, on walls!

Many street artists use the Internet to look at photos of street art from around the world. They communicate with other artists online and share ideas. Some street artists are famous and you can see their pictures in galleries. We don't know about the future of street art, but it is here to stay for sure!
