Reading Comprehension

3 Read the text. Then answer the questions

On November 2018, at Portland airport, a man wearing a suit and a raincoat bought a ticket for the evening flight to Seattle. He checked in and got on the plane. The name on the ticket said Dan Cooper, but that wasn't his real name. He changed it as he was an experienced criminal.

While he was flying, he gave a note to the flight attendant. The note said that he had a bomb in his suitcase. He also told her that when he arrived in Seattle he wanted $1 million dollars and the plane to run away. Cooper said he wouldn't kill any passenger if they didn't cause any problem. People on the plane were terrified thinking that they would probably die there.

When they got to Seattle, After he had received the money he asked for, he let the passengers free and flew the plane away to an unknown destination. Nobody knew anything from him after that terrible situation on the plane. He could escape with the money and a plane.
