London is a very old city. It very different in the past!

This in an old film about London in 1950. cars, but the cars very different. lots of buses, too. These red double decker buses. still lots of these buses in London today. They're famous!

We can find out a lot about the past from old films. We can see things from the past. We can see people from the past. And we can hear music from the past. Today, films are in colour and they have sound, too. But many old films black and white and they silent.

The cameras very different, too. They a lot bigger than our cameras! I like watching old films. It's a fun way to find out about the past!
