

Who, Whom, Whose

Use who as a subject pronoun and whom as an object pronoun.

Example: Who is not going? To whom am I speaking?

Do not confuse the possessive pronoun whose with contraction who's.

Example: Whose books are these? Who's that at the door?

Directions Write who or whom to complete each sentence.

1. _____ will help decorate the gym for the costume party?
2. _____ did you call?
3. Do you know _____ is planning to attend?
4. With _____ are you going?
5. _____ are you to pretend to be?
6. From _____ did you get the idea?
7. Do you think the others will know _____ you are?
8. _____ can pick up the refreshments?
9. From _____ do we get the money to pay for them?
10. _____ is going to the costume judge?

Directions Write whose or who's to complete each sentence.

11. _____ going to drive everyone?
12. _____ parents have a van?
13. _____ your favorite cartoon character?
14. _____ the boy on the Napoleon costume?
15. This mask is mine, but _____ mask is that?
16. _____ costume did you borrow?
17. _____ Bradley supposed to be?
18. _____ selecting the best costume?
19. I can't decide _____ costume should win.
20. The person _____ the winner will get a prize.