

INVERTEBRATE ANIMALS

Drag and drop these blocks to complete the outline about invertebrate animals _____

LAY EGGS HARD PORES SPIKES SOME FORMING EXOSKELETON SKIN LAYING
TENTACLES OVIPAROUS SEGMENTS LUNGS BUD SOFT GILLS EGGS OXYGEN HOLES

ANIMAL	BODY	RESPIRATION	REPRODUCTION
MOLLUSKS	They have ... bodies. Most have a ... shell.	They absorb ... through gills.	They reproduce by ... eggs.
COELENTERATES	They have soft bodies. Some have	They absorb oxygen through their	They reproduce by growing a
PORIFERA	They have soft bodies with ... called pores.	They absorb oxygen through the	They reproduce by ... buds.
ECHINODERMS	They have soft bodies covered with	Some have Others breathe through the skin.	They are
ARTHROPODS	They have an ... and jointed legs that bend.	Some of them have simple Others have gills.	They are oviparous because they lay
ANNELIDS	They have soft long bodies divided into rings called absorb oxygen through the skin. Others have gills.	They ... so they are oviparous.

Join with arrows each animal to its corresponding group _____

SPONGES

MOLLUSCS

ARTHROPODS

ECHINODERMS

ANNELIDS

COELENTERATES

