Reading

Read the passage and decide whether the following statements are True (T) or False (F).

In China, the biggest festival is the New Year. The date of the New Year depends on the moon so it changes every year, but it is always in January or February.

In Chinese culture, each year is named after an animal. There are twelve different animals. A traditional part of the Chinese New Year celebrations is the Lion Dance. People dress in lion costumes and dance in the street. Red is the colour of good luck for Chinese people.

Dancers usually perform the Lion Dance high in the air. The show ends with singing and dancing in traditional costumes.

The New Year celebrations normally finish with a beautiful and noisy fireworks display. Chinese people have used fireworks for two thousand years. They are a traditional part of any Chinese celebrations.
