

Practice Introducing Source Quotes

For each item, choose a signal phrase from the list and place it in front of a quote where it seems to work best. There are no specific right or wrong answers, but the two parts should flow together and make sense.

Part One: Literary Sources

1- Speaker: Alice

_____ “I wish I could show you our cat
Dinah; I think you’d take a fancy to cats if you could only see her.”

2- Speaker: Alice

_____ “I’m not a serpent, I tell you!”

3- Speaker: Mock Turtle

_____ “We called him Tortoise because he taught us. Really, you are very dull.”

4- Speaker: Mad Hatter

_____ “Well, you might just as well say ‘I see what I eat’ is the same thing as ‘I eat what I see!’”

Part Two: Non-fiction Sources

1- Writer: Grossman

_____ “It’s never been proven that Lewis Carroll took mind-altering drugs.”

2- Writer: Mikkelson

_____ “Hat makers who day after day handled mercury soaked fabric risked mercury poisoning, a condition that affects the nervous system.”

3- Researcher: Hesterley

_____ “Forty-three percent of respondents in the survey indicated that they preferred apples to oranges.”

4- Writer: Ardagh

_____ “the Mad Hatter’s Tea party of Chapter 7 seems to break just about all the rules.”
