

Vocabulary - Expressing Feelings

Put the following adjectives in the correct gap

|           |             |            |           |           |            |
|-----------|-------------|------------|-----------|-----------|------------|
| astounded | indifferent | devastated | wary      | petrified | elated     |
| troubled  | lost        | livid      | disgusted | smug      | frustrated |

|  |                                          |
|--|------------------------------------------|
|  | extremely happy and excited              |
|  | excessively self-satisfied               |
|  | physically nauseated or morally repulsed |
|  | extremely surprised or shocked           |
|  | not trusting                             |
|  | disoriented or confused                  |
|  | annoyed, disappointed and/or discouraged |
|  | desolate, grief-stricken                 |
|  | furiously angry                          |
|  | beset with difficulties                  |
|  | extremely frightened; terrified          |
|  | not caring, uninterested, apathetic      |

Match the following adjectives to the pictures

|       |            |          |        |           |           |
|-------|------------|----------|--------|-----------|-----------|
| livid | devastated | troubled | elated | petrified | astounded |
|-------|------------|----------|--------|-----------|-----------|

|                                                                                     |                                                                                     |                                                                                       |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  |  |  |
|  |  |  |

Write the correct adjective to fill in the blanks

1. He was  by the news that he had won the election.
2. We were  to hear that she was pregnant. We had absolutely no idea.
3. Teenagers seem to be  to what is going on in the world.
4. She was  when the doctor told her the child suffered from an incurable disease.
5. She spent her last days alone in her lodgings,  by illness and poverty.
6. He was  when he found out that his wife had been cheating on him with his best friend.
7. We were  at the foul stench coming from the kitchen and we decided to leave immediately.
8. The view from the top was terrifying and she stood there  waiting for someone to rescue her.
9. She's been unbearably  since she won that promotion.
10. You should be very  of people offering ridiculously cheap products.
11. The old lady looked rather  and disoriented, standing by herself in a dark corner.
12. Passengers were  at the unreliability of the service and opted for alternative means of transport.