Раздел 2 (задания по чтению)

12. Вы проводите информационный поиск в ходе выполнения проектной работы.

Определите, в каком из текстов A–F содержатся ответы на интересующие Вас вопросы 1–7.

Один из вопросов останется без ответа.

Занесите Ваши ответы в таблицу.

1. What is the greatest moon in the Solar System?
2. Which moons are much bigger than some planets?
3. What do scientists think of the creation of the Moon?
4. What does the lack of atmosphere mean to the Moon?
5. How many moons are there in the Solar System?
6. What is the reason for not having a moon?
7. What is the wrong belief about the moon?

- A. The dark side of the moon is a myth. In reality both sides of the Moon see the same amount of sunlight however only one face of the Moon is ever seen from Earth. This is because the Moon rotates around on its own axis in exactly the same time it takes to orbit the Earth, meaning the same side is always facing the Earth. The side facing away from Earth has only been seen by the human eye from spacecraft.
- B. There are many moons in the Solar System while we generally think of the Earth's Moon only. There are moons in the solar system which orbit planets, dwarf planets, and other solar system objects. As of May 2018, there are close to 350 moons in the Solar System. There are total 175 moons which orbit 8 planets and there are 9 moons which orbit 5 dwarf planets and rest of them orbit other solar system bodies like asteroids.
- C. The Moon has no atmosphere like the Earth and some other planets. This means that the surface of the Moon is unprotected from cosmic rays, meteorites and solar winds, and has huge temperature variations. That is why there are many craters from falling meteorites. The lack of atmosphere means no sound can be heard on the Moon. Moreover, due to this fact the sky always appears black.
- D. Venus and Mercury are the only planets which do not have any moon. Mercury does not have any moon because Mercury is very close to the sun so it wouldn't be able to hold on to its own moon. Any moon with a large distance from Mercury would be in an unstable orbit and will eventually get pulled into the Sun. If moon were too close to the planet they would be destroyed by tidal gravitational forces and most likely crash into Mercury.
- E. Jupiter has 69 moons out of which 53 moons have been officially named. Jupiter's four main moons are Io, Europa, Ganymede and Callisto. These moons are named the Galilean moons after Galileo Galilei. Jupiter features some of the largest moons in the solar system. Ganymede is the largest moon in the Solar System and ninth largest object in the solar system. It is 8% larger than planet Mercury. Ganymede is the only moon which is known to have the magnetic field.
- F. The Earth's Moon is the fifth largest natural satellite in the Solar System. At 3,475 km in diameter, the Moon is much smaller than the major moons of Jupiter and Saturn. Earth is about 80 times the volume than the Moon, but both are about the same age. A prevailing theory is that the Moon was once part of the Earth, and was formed from a chunk that broke away due to a huge object colliding with Earth when it was relatively young.

Вопрос

Прочитайте текст. Определите, какие из приведённых утверждений 13–19 соответствуют содержанию текста (1 – True), какие не соответствуют (2 – False) и о чём в тексте не сказано, то есть на основании текста нельзя дать ни положительного, ни отрицательного ответа (3 – Not stated). Запишите в поле ответа цифру 1, 2 или 3, соответствующую выбранному Вами варианту ответа.

A Christmas Story

Years ago, there was a very rich man whose main interest in life was art collecting. He was a widower and he had a son, who shared his father's passion. Together they travelled around the world, buying the finest pictures for their collection.

War put an end to their travels. The young man left to serve his country. After a few weeks, his father got the news that the young man had died while taking a fellow soldier to hospital.

Miserable and lonely, the old man thought about the upcoming Christmas holidays. On Christmas morning, a knock on the door awakened the depressed old man. As he opened the door, he saw a young soldier with a large package in his hand. 'I was a friend of your son,' he said. 'I was the one he was rescuing when he died. May I come in? I have something to show you.'

The soldier told the old man how his son had saved his life and how everyone in the regiment loved and respected him.

'I'm an artist,' said the soldier, 'and I want to give you this.' He handed the package to the old man. The old man unwrapped the package and saw that it was a picture — a portrait of his son. The old man knew enough about art to understand that the picture was not the work of a genius, but it was his son's face, his features, his expression... The likeness was striking.

The painting of his son soon became his most prized possession. He valued it more than the pieces which museums around the world would be proud to have.

The following spring, the old man became ill and died. As he had no relatives, all his paintings were to be sold at an auction. According to the will of the old man, the pictures had to be auctioned on Christmas day, the day he had received his greatest gift. Art collectors from around the world gathered to buy some of the world's most famous paintings.

The auction began with a painting that was not on any museum's list. It was the painting of the man's son. The auctioneer asked for an opening sum. The room was silent. 'Who will start with $100?' he asked. No one spoke. Minutes passed. From the back of the room came, 'Who cares about that painting? It's just a picture of his son. Let's forget it and go on to the good stuff.'

'No, we have to sell this one first,' replied the auctioneer. 'Now, who will take the son?'

After a few minutes a man stood up and said, 'I'm not an art collector, I just knew the father and the son, and I'd like to have the boy's portrait, if nobody wants it. But I have only ten dollars.'

'Ten dollars. Will anyone go higher?' called the auctioneer. 'Going once, going twice. And now the auction is over.'

The room went quiet. Everybody looked at the auctioneer in disbelief. Then somebody asked, 'What do you mean it's over? We didn't come here for a picture of some old man's son painted by an artist nobody has heard of. What about all these paintings?'

The auctioneer replied, 'It's very simple. According to the will of the father, whoever takes the son gets it all.'
