Machu Picchu

Located in the eastern Cordillera of Southern Peru on a 2,430-metre mountain ridge. It was founded around 1450 by the Incas but it was abandoned by them at the time of the Spanish conquest in 1572.
It is the most familiar icon of Inca civilization.
Machu Picchu was built in the classical Inca style, with polished dry-stone walls. Its three primary structures are the Intihuatana, the Temple of the Sun, and the Room of the Three Windows. Most of the outlying buildings have been reconstructed in order to give tourists a better idea of how they originally appeared. By 1976, 30% of Machu Picchu had been restored and restoration continues.
