

NIGERIA AN IMPRESSIVE AFROECUADORIAN NEIGHBORHOOD

They didn't cook because of the lack of money.

Before the pandemic the people ate fish.

And they drank medicinal plants like ginger.

But the COVID-19 didn't affect them.

They didn't work and as a result.

Nobody died in that neighborhood because of the virus.

Few people wore masks, and the social distancing didn't exist.

Scientists made interviews and wrote reports about their situation.

They found that medicinal plants, ginger, oatmeal, fish, fruits, and vegetables, helped them to protect their body against COVID-19.
