

We use past tense verbs to talk about things that already happened.

Some verbs change to the past tense by adding —ed at the end.

If the verb ends in e, we just add a d.

Take a good look at these examples.

answer – answered

ask – asked

walk – walked

promise – promised

Complete these sentences with the past tense of the verbs in () adding —ed or —d at the end (according to each case), following the example and the explanation in the cloud.

Example: My sister and I _____ (walk) to school this morning.

My sister and I walked (walk) to school this morning.

I _____ (call) my mother yesterday.

Last year, my friend _____ (invite) me to a party.

My uncle _____ (listen) to his favorite song last week.

My mom _____ (look) beautiful when she got married.

Mariana _____ (paint) a flower in Arts.

Last night, I _____ (play) Monopoly.

At school, we _____ (dance) all the time.

On vacation, my dad and I _____ (cook) together.