Insects for Food!!! I can't believe it!

When people see insects, they see something yucky. But in some countries, people like to eat insects.

In Thailand, bugs are snack food like chips. People eat worms and grasshoppers. Grasshoppers taste salty.

In Africa, people make bread and meals with insects. They taste like chicken.

In many countries like Switzerland, there are now insects in the supermarket!

There are farms that grow worms and flies. Insects are important. There are not many animals to give meat for all the people in the world. You also need lots of money to buy meat. Insects are like meat but cheaper. They are going to be the new meat. We will eat worms with rice and grasshoppers with potatoes.

We eat insects all the time, but we don't know it. There are insects in our ketchup. When tomatoes are made into ketchup, some bugs may be in them. Sometimes, we can eat an insect by chance when we ride our bike! It is not so terrible! Do you want to eat insects? Would you eat an insect in chocolate? There are now chocolates with insects in them.
