HOME ABOUT US CONTACT

What do you do after school? Most teenagers surf the web, meet friends or play football. But two brothers in Texas, USA, do something different. Nigel and Shane Mushambi make cakes in their free time.

Nigel and Shane are only 12 and 13 years old, but they've got their own cake company, called 2 Bros in the Kitchen. They make beautiful cakes from their home and sell them on their website. The brothers often use their grandmother's recipes to make their cakes, but they also like trying new recipes.

For Nigel and Shane, making cakes isn't only fun. It's also important. When the brothers sell their cakes, they use some of the money to help people. They give meals to families with no food. They buy schoolbags and notebooks for children.

Nigel and Shane haven't got time to play computer games or watch TV, but they're happy. Their cakes change people's lives.
