Passage 2

Poem: FALLING ASLEEP IN CLASS

By: Ken Nesbitt

I fell asleep in class today,
As I was awfully bored.
I laid my head upon my desk
And closed my eyes and snored.

I woke to find a piece of paper
Sticking to my face.
I'd slobbered on my textbooks,
And my hair was a disgrace.

My clothes were badly rumpled,
And my eyes were glazed and red.
My folder left a three-ring
Indention on my head.

I slept through class, and probably
I would have slept some more,
Except my students woke me
As they headed out the door.

1. Why was the poet sleeping in class? [1mark]

2. Was the poet sleeping quietly? Give evidence from the poem to support your answer. [2marks]

3. "My folder left a three-ring indention on my head". Write another word that means the same as 'indention'.
