FICTION AND NON-FICTION

Firehouse Pup

Every Saturday, Mom and I stroll

pass the firehouse so that I can get a view of the Firehouse Pup. This puppy was born two months ago and is very intelligent.

My uncle, who is a fireman, let us visit the puppy sometimes. My desire is to take him home but mom said that we can't.

Firehouses

A firehouse is a place where fire trucks and firemen stay when they aren't out combating fires.

Firemen are always present at the firehouses because a fire can occur at any time. When they are called, they quickly put on their gear, board the trucks and proceed to the fire as safely and quickly as they can.
