The Unhappy King

Far away, there was an old king who was rich and strong but he always felt sick and unhappy.

One day, his doctor told him: "There is only one thing that can make you well and happy. You must wear the shoes of a man who is always happy."

So, the king asked hundreds of men if they are always happy. They all said that sometimes they are happy and sometimes they are sad.

At last, the king met a very poor fisherman. The fisherman said that he is always happy, every day from morning to night. "Give me your shoes quickly!" the king said. The fisherman laughed: "I'm sorry; I don't wear shoes at all!!!"

Mr. Black

Mr. Black works in an office in the city. Every day he goes to work by bus, and then he walks from the bus stop to his office. In the evening he walks from the office to the bus stop. He always walks along the same street, and he always sees the same man sitting at the side of the road, selling matches.

There is always an old dog near him. Around the dog's neck there is a piece of paper with the words: "I cannot see. I'm blind!"

Mr. Black is a kind man. He always stops and gives the man some money, but he never takes any matches.

This evening Mr. Black is late for his bus. He is running to the bus stop. He is passing the man and his dog but he has no time to stop. Now the poor man is running after Mr. Black.

"Mister, you are always very kind. Please give me some money today, too. I'm a poor man", he says.

Mr. Black is surprised. He stops and looks at the man.

"You're a blind man. How can you run after me?" he asks.
