

Vocabulary training

State and Society

Match two parts of the sentence.

1. We stood together with our hands on our hearts

where the government institutions are situated and major decision-making processes take place.

2. The capital city is the political and administrative center of the country, for traditional values and policies during his election campaign.

3. The conservative party's candidate strongly advocated as the national anthem played, feeling a deep sense of pride and unity.

4. The ambassador represents their home country in a foreign nation and works to maintain diplomatic relations and promote mutual understanding.

5. The kingdom is ruled by a king or queen, which aimed to improve the quality of schools and increase access to education for all.

6. The majority of the population supported the new education policy, addressing issues that directly impact the lives of people in our community.

7. The mayor of our town is responsible for and their authority is passed down through generations within the royal family.