

Past modals of deduction

1. What is the past modal of deduction used for?

- A. Is used to make guesses or deductions about past events
- B. Is used to talk about our emotions and feelings
- C. Is used to talk about future possibilities

2. Determine whether the following statement is true or false:

"Modal verbs can express probability, possibility or deduction"

- A. True
- B. False

3. Complete the following sentences using the correct past modal deductive form :

"Why did Jane miss her flight? She _____ overslept."

- A. could have
- B. while
- C. in fact

4. Complete the following sentences using the correct past modal deductive form :

"Why did the store close early yesterday?"

" They _____ run out of inventory."

- A. probably have
- B. might have
- C. feel bad

5. Complete the following sentences using the correct past modal deductive form :

"Why did the store close early yesterday?"

" They _____ run out of inventory."

A. probably have

B. might have

C. feel bad

6. Determine whether the following statement is true or false :

"Must is used to express a strong belief or conclusion about something that likely happened in the past."

A. True

B. False

7. Complete the following sentences using the correct past modal deductive form :

"The scratch on my car ____ been from the accident I had yesterday"

A. something have

B. must have

8. Say if the following sentence is grammatically correct:

"The driver totally have been distracted by their phone."

C. Yes, it's grammatically correct.

D. No, it's not grammatically correct.