

Tracy Dick's new case

Tracy: Hello, Sandra?
Sandra: Yes. Where are you? What do you do/are you doing?
Tracy: I watch/am watching your sister.
Sandra: Can you see her?
Tracy: Yes, she puts on/is putting on her coat.
Sandra: Right. Follow her.
TYacy: Hello?
Sandra: Where are you now?
Tracy: I'm behind her. She walks/is walking down the street and she goes/is going into a travel agent's.
Tracy: Sandra?
Sandra: Yes. What does she do/is she doing now?
Tracy: She sits/is sitting in the travel agent's.
Sandra: But what does she do/is she doing there?
Tracy: She buys/is buying a ticket.
Sandra: A ticket! What kind of ticket?
Tracy: I am not knowing/don't know. It looks like a plane ticket.
Sandra: A plane ticket? But she is hating/hates flying.
Sandra: What does she do/is she doing now?
Tracy: She leaves/is leaving the travel agent's and she stands/is standing in the street.
Sandra: Stands/Standing in the street?
Tracy: Yes, she waits/is waiting for someone. Ah!
Sandra: What?
Tracy: She gets/is getting into a taxi and she talks/is talking to the taxi driver.
Tracy: Sandra?
Sandra: Yes?
Tracy: The taxi stops/is stopping outside a house and she goes/is going in. What do you want me to do?
Sandra: Go in.
Tracy: Go in? OK.
Crowd: Surprise!!! Happy Birthday, Tracy Dick. We bought you a plane ticket!
