

Reading Comprehension: Places around the world

Read the texts and select the correct answers.

The Eiffel Tower is one of the most famous tourist attractions in the world. Located in the heart of Paris, France, this iconic structure stands tall at 330 meters. Built in 1889, the Eiffel Tower was initially intended to be a temporary structure for the World's Fair, but it has become a symbol of the city and a must-visit landmark. Tourists flock to the Eiffel Tower to marvel at its impressive architecture, breathtaking views of the city, and the chance to ride its elevators to the top.

Questions:

Where is the Eiffel Tower located?

Berlin, Germany

Venice, Italy

Paris, France

How tall is the Eiffel Tower?

1889 meters tall

330 meters tall

420 meters tall

Was it originally meant to be a permanent structure?

Yes

No

Why do tourists visit the Eiffel Tower?

Because it is a symbol of the city

Because its amazing views

Because it's a romantic place

The Great Wall of China is another popular tourist destination. Stretching over 13,000 miles, it is the world's longest wall and a UNESCO World Heritage site. The wall was built more than 2,000 years ago to protect China from invasions. Today, visitors from all over the world come to admire its ancient architecture, panoramic views, and learn about China's rich history. Some parts of the wall have been restored and are easily accessible to tourists, while other sections remain untouched, offering a more rugged and adventurous experience.

Questions:

What is the Great Wall of China?

It is a museum in China

It is an UNESCO World Heritage site

It is a nice wall in China

How long is the wall?

13,000 kilometres long

13,000 miles

2,000 miles

Why was the wall originally built?

To show the power of China to the world

To have a good experience

To protect China from invaders

What can visitors do at the Great Wall?

Nothing interesting

Admire its panoramic views

Eat Chinese food

Are all parts of the wall accessible to tourists?

Yes, it's accesible

No, some parts are restricted

The Pyramids of Giza in Egypt are a fascinating tourist attraction. These ancient structures, built as tombs for pharaohs, date back to around 2500 BCE. The most famous pyramid, the Great Pyramid of Khufu, is the oldest and largest of the three pyramids. Visitors can explore the pyramids, marvel at their size and precision, and learn about the ancient Egyptian civilization. Additionally, the Sphinx, a mythical creature with the body of a lion and the head of a human, is another highlight of the area and a popular subject for photographs.

Questions:

Where are the Pyramids of Giza located?

Egypt Africa India

When were the pyramids built?

around 2500 ACE around 2000 BCE around 2500 BCE

What were the pyramids used for?

To admire the power of the pharaoh

To use them as tombs

To save worthy things as gold

Which pyramid is the oldest and largest?

Khufu Giza Sphinx

What is the Sphinx?

It's a mythical creature

It's a wonderful statue

It's a local monument