READING

4 Przeczytaj wywiad. Do każdej odpowiedzi (1–4) dopasuj właściwe pytanie (A–E). Wpisz odpowiednią literę obok numeru każdej odpowiedzi.

Uwaga! Dwa pytania zostały podane dodatkowo i nie pasują do żadnej odpowiedzi.

In our magazine we have interviewed a food critic who works for a national newspaper. Here is what he told us about his job.

1 ____

Well, when I started working as a food critic, I had little idea of the many responsibilities that come with the job. It's not just going to restaurant to try the food there. You need to have good knowledge of the food industry, have great writing and interpersonal skills, because you also often need to interview restaurant managers and staff.

2 ____

About 10 years ago I was working as a journalist for the local news column. After my holiday in Asia, I wrote a blog about my travels, and especially the food there. My boss liked it a lot and suggested I should be their food critic.

3 ____

I knew the basic things about what a food critic does, so that was a start. But, of course I needed to learn much more, so for a few months I worked with a retired food critic. She really taught me a lot about the different aspects of the job.

4 ____

Probably the biggest one is that you have to keep a low profile. That means you can't have photos of yourself on social media so that restaurant managers can't recognise you when you visit their restaurant. And you need to keep an eye on your weight!

- A What are the disadvantages of the job?
- B Did you have to do any training for the job?
- C What restaurants do you like visiting most?
- D What do you usually have to do as a food critic?
- E How did you start working as a food critic?
- F What is the best thing about being a food critic?

Hi Paula,

I'm writing to tell you that I've started my job in the bakery. I know I told you I was going to start two weeks ago, but I fell ill, so I had my first day at work last Monday. The bakery is very popular with the local residents. It sells bread, rolls and sweet buns, but the biggest hit that most people come there for are the delicious pastries, which we sell hot at lunch time.

Since I started, I've done quite a few different things. I first helped to sell at the counter, packing the food. This job also involved cleaning the several tables where customers can drink tea or coffee and eat the food they've bought. This one was really my least favourite. At the moment I'm helping the kitchen staff and, although it's the hardest, I'm loving it! I can watch them at work and I hope to learn a lot here. One of the bakers showed me how to make bagels. I baked some later at home and they were quite good. Next on my list are muffins and brownies and I promise to make some for you when you come to see me in August.

How are you spending your holiday?

Write back,

Natalie
