Tip: Sometimes an option is mentioned or suggested in the text but it isn't clearly right or wrong. Then it's probably Doesn't say.

Marty's job

I'm really into sport. My parents took me to tennis lessons when I was very young. I was only three years old! Then, two years later, I started judo and I really enjoyed it. When I was eleven, I got a brilliant new bicycle for my birthday and I started cycling. I was good and I was in the national team. I won lots of medals for my country. My big brother also loves sport – he's a professional football player. He gets a lot of money. It's great if your hobby can be your job.

I wanted to be a professional cyclist but I broke my leg when I was thirteen. Now I can't do a lot of sport. It made me very sad. But I found a new job with sport! Now I write about sport for a website. I love it. Every weekend I go to matches and tournaments. Then I write about them. Of course, I'm still a student and I can't write every day. When I'm eighteen, I want to go to university and learn to be a better writer. Then I can be a professional and get lots of money from sport, like my big brother!

- 5 Read Petra's blog post about her bad week. Mark the sentences A (right), B (wrong) or C (doesn't say).

Tip: Sometimes you need to read more than just one sentence to get the right answer.

Hi, everyone! I'm online again – wonderful! Now I can tell you about my terrible week. You know my dad works for a holiday company. He loves it and we don't have to pay much for our holidays – great! Well, last month he got a better job, with more money in the same company. But there was a problem. The job was in London and we lived in Manchester! So, last week we moved. Now we're in London, in a lovely house opposite a park. It's nice because we're near the centre and the shops are fantastic!

But last week was hard. I started a new school and it's OK but I really loved my old school. I had a lot of good friends and brilliant teachers. I'm sure I'm going to make new friends soon but it's difficult when you don't know people.

Another thing – in Manchester I walked to school every day but now my school is five kilometres away and I have to get public transport. The bus is always busy and I can't sit down. Also last week we didn't have wi-fi in the house! Terrible! I couldn't chat online, check emails or post on my blog. I had to read books, watch TV or do my homework. Boring!
