

JRR Tolkien was a professor at Oxford University. He wrote a children's book called The Hobbit in 1937. Since then, the book has been translated into more than 30 languages and sold millions of copies worldwide. The book begins at the home of a hobbit called Bilbo Baggins ...

Chapter 1

In a hole in the ground there lived a hobbit.

Presentation

Indefinite article a/an

Use the indefinite article a/an:

- to talk about one person or one thing in a general way (when it doesn't matter which one):
She lived in a house in Manchester.
- to talk about something or someone for the first time (we don't know which one):
In a hole in the ground ...
- to say that a person or thing is one of many:
He was a professor at Oxford University. (There is more than one professor.)

Definite article the

Use the definite article the:

- to talk about a specific person or thing:
JRR Tolkien was the author of The Hobbit.
- to add a description of the specific thing or person:
The hole had a round door.
- to refer back to the same thing or person:

The hole had a round door. The door opened on to a hall.

- to say that a person or thing is the only one in that context:

Tom was waiting by the entrance to the museum. (there is only one entrance)

Zero article

Use no article to talk about:

- uncountable or plural nouns in a general way:
The hobbit was fond of visitors.
Houses in England often have gardens.

some

Note that some isn't an article but it can replace a/an or zero article when you talk about plural countable nouns, or uncountable nouns.

There's a chair in the hall. → There are some chairs in the hall.

There's furniture in the hall. → There's some furniture in the hall.

We often use some to say a number of ... rather than talking about people/things in general:

I like books about fantasy. (= all books)

I like some books about fantasy. (= a number of books, but not all)

Exercises

- 1 Read the text. One of the options in italics (1–6) is not possible. Circle the incorrect option.

Last weekend we visited ¹*a / the / ⊖* castle near my home. It has ²*an / some / –* ancient statues at the entrance. The main door opens on to ³*an / some / the* entrance hall and the first painting you see is a portrait of ⁴*a / – / the* previous owner. All the rooms have ⁵*a / some / –* beautiful furniture. The disappointing thing was that I wanted ⁶*– / an / some* information about its history but no one there seemed to know anything about it.

- 2 Read this description of a room from a play called A Doll's House. Complete it using a, an or the. Then listen and check.

ACT I Scene 1

The audience sees ¹..... comfortable room. At the back of ²..... stage, there are two doors. There is ³..... piano between ⁴..... two doors. One door leads to ⁵..... entrance-hall and ⁶..... other door, which is partly open, leads to a study. We can see part of a desk in ⁷..... study. On the left-hand wall of the main room, there is ⁸..... window and there are two armchairs near it. On the right-hand side, there is another window and, in front of it, ⁹..... stove and ¹⁰..... rocking-chair. There's ¹¹..... small table between ¹²..... stove and ¹³..... rocking-chair. There are pictures on ¹⁴..... walls and a small bookcase with some books. A fire burns in ¹⁵..... stove.

- 3 Read the sets of three sentences. Write one indefinite article, one definite article and one zero article (–) in A, B and C.

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 A Henrik Ibsen was author of the play A Doll's House . | B Here are your keys. room is on the second floor. |
| B Henrik Ibsen was playwright from Norway. | C Do you have room for two, please? |
| C Henrik wrote plays in the 19th century. | 4 A They live in house in the centre of Rome. |
| 2 A I like watching comedy shows on TV. | B Some people still live in houses made of straw. |
| B There's episode of that new TV show on this evening. | C They live in same house that Shakespeare once lived in. |
| C Have you seen new detective show on Channel 5? It's great! | 5 A Would you like piece of chocolate? |
| 3 A We have accommodation for 30 guests. | B In my opinion chocolate they make in Mexico is the best in the world. |
| | C I'm very fond of chocolate. |