

Chapter 2. Contract

Lesson 2. NDA

What is a non-disclosure agreement (NDA)?

Use NDAs to keep confidential information safe without slowing down your work.

<https://www.adobe.com/sign/esignature-resources/sign-nda.html#when>

Exercise 1. Insert the words from the box into gaps of the NDA agreement.

provide disclose legal protect sensitive partners confidential patients

What is a nondisclosure agreement (NDA)?

A nondisclosure agreement (NDA) is a document between two or more parties who agree not to any information revealed over the course of doing business together. Like the privacy agreements that confidentiality between doctors and, and between attorneys and their clients, NDAs an important protection for business owners who share information with future or investors, their employees, and contractors.

Exercise 2. Insert 10 correct prepositions box in the text why agreement is important.

for to while to with out with like in to Legal contracts like confidentiality agreements are important for small businesses and startups, both in and out of the tech world. If you have a great idea or invent technology, new products, or proprietary formulas you want to sell, you probably need to share it with others in order to seek funding, start production, and bring your product to market. Your business plan itself and valuable customer lists might also need protection. With an NDA, you have a legal agreement that can help safeguard your leads and ideas while you raise money and hire employees or freelancers.