b. Read the text about blizzards in China. Answer each question with NO MORE THAN TWO WORDS AND/OR A NUMBER from the text.

China is one of the countries that experiences the most blizzards in the world. Blizzards frequently hit the central and southern regions of the country. The year 2008 saw one of the worst blizzards in its history. It happened between January 25 and February 6 and killed 129 people. According to official records, the country did not experience its worst winter months in more than two decades. Experts in meteorology said that La Nina, a weather phenomenon, could be the cause of the blizzard. Millions of crops failed, and livestock died in the snowstorm. Also, it caused enormous damage to the national electricity grid. The power cut happened in Fuzhou in about three weeks. There was no power or water supply in Chenzhou for nearly two weeks. According to officials, it took five months to fully fix the electricity grid.

- 6 When did the country experience its worst blizzard? _____
- 7 How many people died from the blizzard? _____
- 8 What could be the cause of the blizzard? _____
- 9 What died in the blizzard? _____
